

PART.208 I'm in love ♡

When one falls in love, production of certain proteins is reduced up to 40 percent. These proteins support the function of the tissue-hormone serotonin. Knowing this, can it be determined whether one is in love?

What happens when one falls in love?

Makoto-san's colleague Misaki
Mamaka (22),

Often blacks out when she's drunk.

HEY!

She fell in love with Makoto-san because she projected her ideal image of a guy onto him. Almost like love at first sight.

Decisive factors for 'falling in love'

1. Appearances - one often tends to fall in love with a person whose outward appearances give a feeling of closeness and familiarity. The person does not need to look amazing, just match one's personal taste to a certain degree.

2. Similarities - people are often drawn to someone whose tastes and ideals are similar.

Misaki-chan only learned that Makoto-san was married after she took him to heart, which excited her enough to push her over the edge and fall in love.

EH...
THAT'S...

OH REALLY?
WITH WHO?

Honest to a fault

BUT AH...
YEAH.

SAY, ARE YOU IN LOVE WITH SOMEONE?
